

TRAVEL

The Top 5 Destinations Art and Design Lovers Should Visit in September

From the London's Design Biennale and Design Festival to Detroit's own Month of Design, this fall is full of delights for aesthetes around the globe

TEXT BY LAURA ITZKOWITZ · Posted August 7, 2018

As people begin to return from summer vacation, the cultural calendar heats up around the world with a host of design and art festivals both near and far. Stateside, Detroit celebrates all things design with its citywide Month of Design. Chicago will draw art enthusiasts from both coasts and beyond for its most exciting edition of Expo Chicago yet. London will host multiple design festivals as well as a special exhibit dedicated to Renzo Piano. Vienna will concurrently host the Vienna Contemporary art fair and Vienna Design Week, which together will draw art and design fans from Eastern and Western Europe and beyond. Finally, Art Basel Cities launches its inaugural edition in Buenos Aires, cementing the city's place as one of the world's most dynamic cities for art.

Chicago

Photo: Getty Images/Katrin Sauerwein/EyeEm