

Mediterranean cruise sails along Sicily's historic Cyclopean Coast

By ROSEMARY MCCLURE
MAR 01, 2018 | 6:00 AM

CroisiEurope ship La Belle de L'Adriatique cruises in the Mediterranean. (CroisiEurope)

Strike out on your own epic journey with a weeklong cruise to the land of Homer and the Odyssey. A new eight-day coastal Mediterranean cruise travels round trip from Catania, Sicily, to the Cyclopean Coast and other historic regions.

The CroisiEurope tour includes stops in the Sicilian cities of Pozzallo, Ragusa and Modica. The cruise will also visit Malta, stopping at Valletta and Rabat.

Travelers and antiquity enthusiasts will embark on excursions to the Cyclopean Coast and to the island of Gozo, visit Mt. Etna for lunch and a local wine tasting session, and learn about Malta's archaeological treasures.

Dates: Nov. 8-15, 15-22, 22-29

Price: From $2,834 per person, double occupancy. Includes meals, activities, excursions, travel assistance and port fees. International airfare not included.

Info: CroisiEurope, (800) 768-7232 or contact a travel agent

travel@latimes.com

@latimestravel