On May 14, Finnair will add five weekly flights between Helsinki and Copenhagen, including a morning flight from Copenhagen for business travelers taking a day trip to Helsinki. It also is boosting its previously announced service to Reykjavik, which begins April 11. Finnair will fly the route five times per week during the summer and three times per week during the winter. Additionally, Finnair on May 15 will add a third daily flight to Vilnius, Lithuania, and the carrier is boosting seasonal service to each Warsaw and Dublin.
