More and more airlines are offering amenities so stylish you may be tempted to make room in your carry-on come touchdown.

Etihad has introduced complimentary limited-edition business-class amenity kits packaged in pouches with designs inspired by six major cities on its route map, such as Abu Dhabi and Madrid. Inside you'll find Luxe City Guides and extra-hydrating skin-care products specially created by Scaramouche + Fandango.

From blankets to amenity kits, just about everything aboard Finnair is adorned with whimsical patterns by iconic Finnish textile company Marimekko. The brand's flagship poppy print even covers two long-haul aircrafts.

Forgot your headphones at home? JetBlue sells great earbuds for only $5. Plus they come in a travel-friendly felt pouch that can double as a card holder or a coin purse.

Missoni has designed complimentary printed satin slippers and Italian-linen pajamas with tapered, drop-crotch drawstring pants—the height of in-flight chic—exclusively for Qatar Airways' first-class passengers.
