By Jesse Sokolow on 22 May 2017

Alaska Airlines announced a new frequent flyer partnership with Finnair.

Under the new agreement, members of the Finnair Plus loyalty program can earn and redeem miles and points on Alaska Airlines flights.

Meanwhile, members of Alaska Airlines' Mileage Plan program can earn miles and points on Finnair flights, and will be able to redeem them beginning later this year.

Finnair also announced plans to begin new non-stop, seasonal service to Helsinki from San Francisco on June 1. The route will be the carrier's first from the west coast.
