In this year's Readers' Choice Awards survey, you voted on the world's best airlines (outside the U.S.), with several Middle Eastern and Asian carriers getting top marks for those long-haul flights around the globe. The number one airline, though, is a refreshing surprise for 2017.

Operating from its hub at top-rated Helsinki Airport, Finland's flag airline flies to 90 cities all over the globe, including four in the U.S. (only nine of those airports are in its own country). With extensive connection possibilities, it's easy to take advantage of the carrier's popular stopover deal, which allows up to five nights in or around Helsinki en route to your ultimate destination in Europe or Asia. Finnair was the European launch customer for the long-distance Airbus A350-900.
