Travel deal: Explore northern India with a photojournalist

BY SOPHIA F. GOTTFRIED

The Record (Hackensack, N.J.)

The deal: Geringer Global Travel is offering travelers the opportunity to explore northern India with John Isaac, an award-winning photojournalist who formerly worked for the United Nations. The 18-day trip takes travelers on excursions ranging from safaris to culinary adventures to attending the colorful Holi festival to visiting the Taj Mahal. Isaac, who has also written a book on the region, will provide photography lessons and tips throughout.

Cost: $8,225 per person, based on a double occupancy. Save $200 when booked by Dec. 1.

What's included: Accommodations; all meals; all transfers, excursions and sightseeing tours; entrance fees at all monuments; train travel from Dehli to Agra; excursions such as Holi celebrations, including costumes, Jeep safaris in Ranthambore, elephant and jeep ride in Jaipur, visit to tribal villages, morning and evening visits to the Taj Mahal, boat ride in Varansi and more.

When: March 9 to 26, 2017.
