Hanging from a zipwire over India

If you like to swing but don't do golf, and like the sound of India but don't want to strike out independently, then you might enjoy Geringer Global Travel's two week India Family Odyssey. This sounds great fun. You get to dress up in traditional saris and turbans for a photo-shoot, have kite making lessons, visit a bear rescue centre and zip high over the hills overlooking Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Fort on a zip wire. (Your teenagers may be interested to hear that selected scenes from Batman; The Dark Knight Rises were shot there). I've been hearing for a while about flying foxes strung on the side of Indian palaces, and I'm really keen to have a go. And if we're talking bucket list stuff, can I just make it clear I'd also like to be the Tinkerbell fairy who flies from Cinderella's Palace in Disneyland before the fireworks every evening. I can't imagine how that job interview would go.
