Geringer Travel Debuts Small Group Women's Adventure to India

July 17, 2011 9:35 PM

Geringer Global Travel rolled out a small group tour to India for women. The program will take place during the festival of Holi, Feb. 24 to March 9, 2012. Founder Susan Geringer, an India travel specialist, will accompany the group along with a woman guide throughout the tour. The trip will provide a behind-the-scenes look at how Indian women are worshiped in many parts of the country.

Highlights include visits to one of the Widows' Homes in Varanasi; the Indian kitchen of a noble family in Jaipur to experience a cooking demonstration; Sadhna, a women's handicraft enterprise dedicated to providing an alternative means of livelihood and income for the women of rural, tribal and urban slums of the Udaipur region; Holi, a colorful festival celebrating the arrival of spring; and dinner with a former nobleman and his wife to learn about The Taste of Mewar. The tour will visit Delhi, Varanasi, Khajuraho, Agra, Jaipur, Nimaj, Kumbhalgarh and Udaipur. The tour is priced from $3,865 per person double, including hotels and all meals. Bookings made before Oct. 15 receive a $200 discount per person.
