

Self-Guided Tours Through Puglia Include Wine And Cycling

by Debra Bokur

Photo: Roca Vecchia coast © Stefano Bruno Franco | Dreamstime.com

Make your way through Italy's scenic Salento region on a 10-day journey with Perillo Tours that covers 220 miles. Journey highlights include an overnight stay at a fortified seaside farmhouse in Ugento, swimming in the sea at Punta Pizzo Natural Park, and a leisurely wine tasting session at Santi Dimitri winery. Along the way, sites include the castle in the fortified city of Acaya, the ruins of the ancient Bronze Age city of Roca Vecchia, the Byzantine frescoes in the church of St. Peter in Otranto, the castle at Giuliano, Salento's coastline and the Palacia lighthouse at Italy's easternmost point.

Prices begin at $2,325 per person, based on double occupancy. The cost includes eight nights in farmhouses and B&B accommodations, daily breakfast, five dinners with drinks, bike rental for seven days, luggage transportation, GPS navigation system with tracks, a road book with information and insider tips specific to the route, 24-hour assistance, round-trip private transfer between the airports at Bari and Lecce and four tastings sessions featuring local wines, cheeses and other products. Price does not include entrance fees, city taxes, travel insurance flights to and from home locations or meals not mentioned in the itinerary.