Agents can earn big in April with special programs and extra commission with offers from Travel Leaders, Learning Journeys and Club Med.

Travel Leaders Group is offering its first training module in April, now open for registration, as part of Travel Leaders of Tomorrow, which will serve to "attract and train new talent" and help place participants in agencies. After completing the program, participants who are placed into one of the 6,000 Travel Leaders Group agencies will have the opportunity to earn back up to $1,000 of their tuition.

"Devoted to the professionalism of our participants, Travel Leaders of Tomorrow offers prospective travel agents a multi-dimensional approach to learning that will all be available online, teaching them everything from geography and how to book appropriate products for their clients to the essentials in marketing, selling and servicing the individual needs of customers," says Heather Kindred, program director for Travel Leaders of Tomorrow.

The program will be delivered through a "virtual campus," with four parts, including guest lecturers and group projects, ending with the opportunity to complete the Travel Agency Proficiency test.

Rates start at $3,990 pp dbl land-only. Rates include three nights of accommodations at the Deluxe Royal Olympic Hotel; transfers in Greece; daily buffet breakfast; welcome dinner and 1-hour open bar; dinner in Athens at Dionysos Restaurant; mezes lunch and wine tasting in Athens; half-day Athens sightseeing tour with local guide; full-day tour of Delphi with a historian lecture, wine tasting and lunch; 7-night yacht cruise with lunch or dinner daily; and a welcome gift.
