

GENE SLOAN, USA TODAY

New York cruisers will have new options aboard Disney Magic.

Disney will set sail from New York in '18

Disney Cruise Line last week announced it would expand its itineraries out of New York, including its first sailings from the city to Bermuda.

The five- and six-night trips, scheduled for late 2018, will take place on the 1,754-passenger Disney Magic and feature two to three days in Bermuda.

Disney also announced plans for its first cruises to Quebec City. The company said it would offer two seven-night voyages between New York and Quebec City in September 2018 that also will take place on Disney Magic. The Quebec City trips will include stops at the Canadian ports of Saguenay and Baie-Comeau — both firsts for Disney.

In addition, Disney Magic in late 2018 will operate three seven-night sailings from New York to Port Canaveral, Fla., for a visit to nearby Walt Disney World. Passengers on the voyages will receive one-day Park Hopper tickets that allow entry into all of the resort's theme parks and round-trip transportation between the ship and the parks.

---

Gene Sloan