

Andante Travels Announces New Serbia Tour

By Web Reporter - July 17, 2018

The Medieval, Turkish, and Serbian fortress in Golubac, Serbia.

In honor of reaching its 35th anniversary in 2019, Andante Travels announced the launch of new tours exploring new destinations, such as Serbia.

The spring itinerary headed to Serbia is the first tour announced in what will be a series of new itineraries to debut next year. Highlights of the 8-day tour, which will depart from London on May 2, 2019, include exploring Belgrade with visits to the Serbian National and Historical Museum and Belgrade Fortress; touring the Medieval, Turkish and Serbian fortress at Golubac; visiting Nis, the birth city of Constantine the Great; and more.

Pricing for this tour starts at $3,525 pp dbl including guides and guest lecturers, local travel, all meals, plus wine with dinner, hotel accommodations, entry to all sites on the itinerary, and field notes.

For more information, visit andantetravels.com.