Hankering for a little runway action? Consider the new nine-night, 10-day Italy in Vogue tour from luxury travel outfitter Zicasso Handcrafted Travel. Though dates are fully customizable, timing your trip for 2018 Milan Fashion Week (Feb. 21–27, 2018) or the Fall-Winter exhibition (Sept. 19–25, 2018) comes with special perks usually afforded only to celebrity attendees. Highlights connected to the official show include a private Bulgari workshop with access to rare pieces from the collection and a master class in perfumery including a bottle of personalized fragrance to take home with you. The itinerary also includes a private after-hours tour of the Rolex laboratory; a visit to the Italian Institute of Fashion; a shopping expedition in The Mall, an Italian and international luxury-brand shopping area in Tuscany; and a night of opera at the historic Teatro dell'Opera di Roma.

Participants will also enjoy a private VIP fashion show and aperitifs in Florence at the Ferragamo Boutique; an overnight in opulent accommodations at a private villa owned by the Ferragamo family in the Tuscan hills; a stroll through the galleries of the Armani Silos to peruse the archives and displays from past collections; and a guided tour through the world of luxury courtiers and boutiques with a professional English-speaking fashion shopper. Along the way, nine privately guided tours include access to Bulgari, Armani, Fendi, Prada and Ferragamo. Prices begin at $9,899 per person, based on double occupancy and excluding international airfare. All accommodations are in premier rooms with breakfast included, with private transfers in Mercedes vehicles. Participants also receive one mobile phone and Italian SIM card with 4G technology for use during the trip, along with entrance tickets to museums and other attractions outlined in the itinerary.
