

STYLE

An Entire Milan Vacation Dedicated to Fashion

This 10-Day Jet-Set Bender Is Your Fast Track to Becoming a Fashion Insider

BY NAJIB BENOUAR · JANUARY 09, 2018

You step off the plane in Milan.

Someone hands you your new phone for the next 10 days, equipped with an Italian SIM card.

And a dossier filled with fashion week invites, opera tickets and VIP access to fashion Shangri-Las like the Armani Silos, Fondazione Prada, Rolex Orologeria and a shopping itinerary that would make Buzz Bissinger relapse on the spot.

Then your cadre of fashion insiders/personal stylists/new besties roll up like:

So anyway, pack your bags—or don't, and just pick up a new wardrobe there—because bespoke travel outfit Zicasso's Italy in Vogue tour is booking spots for your 10-day fashion bender coinciding with Milan Fashion Week, February 21-28.

They're taking care of everything, including transport in Italy, haute-burner-phone, accommodations, luxurious meals, fashion show seats, private tours of legendary fashion houses like Armani, Bulgari, Fendi, Ferragamo, Prada and a special after-hours tour of the Rolex Orologeria. (They're always on the clock over there. Sorry. Not sorry.)

And if you're worried it's going to be all fashion-y hustle-and-bustle, don't worry, they've made time for some R&R in the Tuscan hills at a Ferragamo-owned estate.

Ugh, Fashion Week is such a grind.

URBANDADDY
PERKS

The best deals, on hard-to-get items. Always.

GET IT NOW

Najib Benouar has been known on occasion to write about menswear, ice cream scoops and all other manner of gentlemanly pursuit.