

Flight Attendants / Finnair / Airlines / Airline News / Flashmobs / → All Tags

Finnair Flight Attendants Whip Up Their Own Flashmob

Where: Helsinki, Finland

October 18, 2011 at 9:25 AM | by JetSetCD | Comments (0)

The world loves to watch flight attendants dance. This we discovered when that Cebu Pacific video of FAs doing the safety demo to the tune of Lady Gaga and Katy Perry went viral. Who are we kidding? The world loves to watch flight attendants do anything other than typical flight attendant stuff, so when Finnair's girls got together to dance for their fellow crew at base, it would of course leak online.

The song: "September" by Earth, Wind and Fire.

The place: the Finnair Crew Lounge at what we're assuming is Helsinki Airport

Finnair has already posted it on their own YouTube, so this could be a publicity stunt, but the fact they didn't involve any passengers (or public) leads us to believe this is just what it seems; a few flight attendants got an idea, got their friends to play along and then alerted the airline to the fun, who were game to support it.

Cute! Keeping their black leather gloves on was a nice touch.

Be the first of your friends to like this.

7 TRAILBLAZERS CHANGING THE WORLD

LEARN MORE

Presented by

Popular Stories

Jaunted Reports
2011 US Airline In-Flight Entertainment Guide

5

Airport Bars
Five Airport Bars Made From Actual Old Airplanes

2

Seats
The Pros and Cons of Sitting in a Plane's Bulkhead Row

8

TSA
Full-Body Scanners 101: How Naked Is Full-Body Scan Naked?

61

Related Stories

Finnair Goes Funky 50s Retro

Finnair Brings Fresh Crayfish Onboard...For You to Eat

Follow Us

