Europe: Roundtrip on Finnair from $549

Europe |

Why Go:

Finnair may not be the first airline that comes to mind when booking flights, but the carrier has an extensive European network with competitive prices on itineraries from the U.S. The airline's winter sale offers departures from four cities (New York, L.A., Miami, and SF) to just about every European hub. For example, roundtrip fares from NYC to Moscow cost $549, while L.A.-Stockholm will put you out $879. Valid for travel between January 1 and February 28, 2012.

What You Get:
