

Can your Schedule D Pass
an IRS Audit?

- ✓ Accurately calculate your adjusted cost basis
- ✓ Minimize your capital gains tax
- ✓ Learn the 4 ways to benefit from the new cost basis regulation

CLICK HERE

Extraordinary Journeys Offers Luxury African Safaris

Share

by Jonathon Ramsey (RSS feed)

May 13th 2010 at 3:01PM

If it doesn't involve J. Peterman or a Hemingway novel, "safari" is probably not a word you're all that interested in hearing about. Mother-daughter team – and pilots – Marcia and Elizabeth Gordon of Extraordinary Journeys would like to have a few words with you before you banish that term for good. Working in Botswana, Kenya, Malawi, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda and Zambia, Extraordinary Journeys doesn't sell you a trip, it plans a safari specifically for you.

They have organized more than 300 African excursions for weddings, honeymoons, getaways and just-because, and like the proverbial snowflakes none of them have been the same. Because the excursions aren't fixed, the Gordons can combine camps, lodges, villas, private planes, 4x4s, tribal visits, elephants, horses and specific game sightseeing tours in any way you wish. They even arrange personal shoppers when you're navigating the wilds of Cape Town, you know, so you won't get stuck in line at the register behind all those penguins – they take forever at checkout...

